Her father died in March in 2017, leaving his wife a widow and four orphaned daughters. What made things worse was that the father was the only breadwinner in the family, because the wife has no job. Two of the daughters have heart problems; they were born with an abnormality in the heart. One of them will be operated for the second time, and the smallest one must be operated soon. They live in a small good house, build by their father before he died.
